Sir Frederick Phillips To Put British Position Before U.S. Treasury

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Treasury Secretary Henry Morgenthau announced today that Sir Frederick Phillips, under-secretary of the British Treasury, was scheduled to arrive in the United States today "to place the latest available information on British finances before the United States Treasury."

Morgenthau's statement consisted of only one sentence. It followed by a few minutes later, the Secretary of Commerce James C. Watson, speaking as federal loan administrator, said that the British government "is a good risk" for loan.

It was learned the mission of Sir Frederick was one of the chief reasons of a meeting yesterday of nine important government officials.

At the state department, meanwhile, state secretary Cordell

BAN DOES NOT AFFECT GIFTS COMING HERE

OTTAWA, Dec. 4.—(CP)—Christmas gifts sent in Canada from the United States will not be affected by the import ban on non-essential articles originating outside the Empire, a national revenue department official said today.

He confirmed the information of a Foreign Exchange Control Bureau source yesterday which later was questioned while department experts looked into the matter.

The national revenue department spokesman said that gifts entering Canada as "casual donations" are not affected by the new ban though the usual customs regulations regarding value apply.

Restrictions on non-essential imports were designed to conserve Canadian foreign exchange and the official noted that gifts to Canadians from Americans, who bought them in their own country with their own money would not help conserve the Dominion's supply of foreign exchange.

Advance Units Are Now Within 1 1/4 Miles Of Southern Albanian Port—Drive On Capital In North

LONDON, Dec. 4.—(BUP)—Exchange telegraph agency dispatches from Athens today reported new Greek victories, including destruction of a "death battalion" of the famous Italian Ferrara division.

The Greek triumphs were said to have been achieved after all-night fighting during which Italian troops resisted Greek attacks stubbornly.

Exchange dispatches said that defeat of the units of the Ferrara division greatly facilitated the Greek advance on Argirocastro, the major Italian base in southwestern Albania.

ATHENS, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Greeks were reported today to be pressing hard against the Italian defences of Porto Edda and Argirocastro, Albania, where resistance was said to be collapsing with capture of both cities expected at any moment.

Earlier a Greek spokesman declared, Fascist troops were falling back fast in the region of Porto Edda, the Italians' southernmost port of entry into Albania, and that Greek advance units were within 1 1/4 miles of the city.

CONFLICT ON RELIEF LOOMS IN CONFERENCE

Classification Of Unemployed By Province Contentional Item

Conflict between the city of Edmonton and the provincial government over the classification of unemployed by province contentious item.

The provincial government's plan to classify unemployed by province is being opposed by the city of Edmonton, which claims that the plan is unfair and unworkable.

The city of Edmonton is claiming that the plan will result in the city being classified as a "poor" province, which would result in the city receiving less financial aid from the provincial government.

The provincial government is claiming that the plan is necessary to ensure that the unemployed are classified correctly, and that the city of Edmonton is being unreasonable in its opposition.

WONT PAY SHARE

"This effort by the provincial government resulted in hardship to many families, and the city, under the terms of the Provincial Relief Act, continued to give relief to deserving cases. Now it would appear the provincial government refuses to pay its share of this relief, and the city is being asked to pay the whole bill."

The city of Edmonton is claiming that the provincial government is refusing to pay its share of the cost of the relief program, and that the city is being asked to pay the whole bill.

Bernard Shaw Replies to De Valera's Reasons for Refusing Britain Bases

George Bernard Shaw, Irish poet and dramatist, gave Britain's reasons for refusing to allow British bases in Ireland, in an interview with the Irish press, which he said was "a great British shenanigan."

By GEORGE BERNARD SHAW
Written for The British United Press

LONDON, Dec. 4.—(BUP)—The interview given by Mr. De Valera to British United Press gives a tragic complexion to the Irish difficulty. It is, in its way, admirable, clear-headed, full of character and brains and gives his point of view—inevitable. Nothing could be more straightforward and logical.

The points are Ireland's and her to the Valera's will not give them to us. He will not allow Ireland to be used in a war declared by England without consulting her.

If any power under whatever flag wishes Irish territory to be used in a war declared by England without consulting her.

EXPENDITURES ON ARMY WORK 200 MILLIONS

December Lay-Offs Release 80,000 Men For Other Work

By R. T. RICHARDSON
Edmonton edition of Ottawa Bureau
OTTAWA, Dec. 4.—With December bringing lay-offs in Canada's greatest military construction program, employment of 120,000 men has dropped to 40,000 releasing 80,000 for other work.

Total expenditure on military construction in Canada, air training, has exceeded $200,000,000. Latest official figure was given in parliament by Hon. C. D. Howe on November 30, when he reported that the program had cost $180,000,000 in the month of 1940, as $180,000,000.

OUTLAYS IN WEST

The outlays made in the four western provinces have amounted to $74,000,000 giving employment to 120,000 men. The expenditures in millions and the number of men employed at peak employment on air training construction by provinces, has been:

Province	Outlay (Millions)	Men Employed
British Columbia	23.0	10,000
Alberta	12.0	10,000
Saskatchewan	12.0	10,000
Manitoba	12.0	10,000
Ontario	40.0	30,000
Quebec	35.0	30,000
Maritimes	26.0	18,000

The Commonwealth Air Plan, air force home defence, and British troops in Canada, has accounted for 80,000 men. In giving this figure to parliament, Hon. C. D. Howe stated that substantial additional employment on air training construction by provinces, has been:

Australian Airmen Are Moved To East

CALGARY, Dec. 4.—(CP)—A number of Australian and New Zealand leading airmen, who have been quartered at the No. 2 Wireless school, R.C.A.F., in Calgary since Nov. 21, will leave the city this evening for the east.

The airmen are being moved to the east to join the Royal Canadian Air Force in the United Kingdom.

ARMED TROOPS NEEDED

If, however, Mussolini makes on rapid development of a new offensive in Albania, more armed troops probably could be drawn from the home reserves. Their place would be filled by the present class. Mussolini, however, has said it is impossible to force the issue until two months or so to overrule the Greeks, as there is no certainty of a new Italian offensive being planned immediately.

It would seem better strategy for the Italians to wait until the winter weather prevents further trying to start forward the Italian army and then move on in the Albanian mountains.

The longer the Italians wait, the more opportunity is being given the Greeks and the British to prepare for a fresh Fascist push.

It is impossible to judge in advance the results of a new large-scale Italian offensive.

Breach Nearing As Internal Situation In Italy Gets Worse

Germany May Seize Italian Port Of Trieste, Seek To Create Berlin-Vichy Axis To Fight Britain

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—(CP)—Private reports from Europe received by some well-informed diplomatic sources indicate a rapidly deteriorating situation in Italy and a widening rift in the Berlin-Rome axis. Reuters news agency said today in a dispatch from its Washington correspondent:

"Probably sensational changes" in western Europe and the Mediterranean are in prospect in the near future, according to these sources. Reuters said, Germany now considers Italy's usefulness as a partner almost irreparably impaired and it was considered possible Germany would seize the important Italian port of Trieste on the Adriatic, taken from Austria after the first great war.

Disaffection among the people of Italy is evident but has not yet crystallized because opposition to the Fascist regime still is a number of reactions of dissatisfied elements are keeping anti-Fascist feeling in check, it was said.

FRANCE, DECEMBER 4.—(CP)—Faction between Mussolini and Rudolf Graziani, his commander-in-chief of operations, has not yet crystallized because opposition to the Fascist regime still is a number of reactions of dissatisfied elements are keeping anti-Fascist feeling in check, it was said.

plus Italian reserves in Greece and the refusal of the Italian fleet to meet the British fleet. Hitler now is believed to be seeking to build a Berlin-Vichy axis. Vichy, the reported visit to Berlin of Vice Premier Laval—Vichy Germany has decided to believe to be connected with this project, Reuters said.

Laval is believed willing to give his support to the project if the results to France are sufficiently inviting. Diplomatic sources say reports from Europe indicate Hitler is not inclined to accept.

World-Wide Chain to Monopolize Price Claimed By Grand Jury

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—(AP)—A world-wide chain of companies to control and monopolize the prices of oil, nitrate of soda and other minerals used in the production of munitions was charged by grand jury today against 79 corporations, including the R. I. Du Pont, Du Pont, and Du Pont.

A series of six Sherman anti-trust indictments founded upon the evidence of the grand jury in addition to the corporations, 96 individuals, including executives and employees of the corporations, were named.

Hitler Takes No Chances On French Visits

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—(CP)—The British Broadcasting Corporation today quoted a French correspondent as saying that Hitler whenever he is in France always allows himself to be surrounded by a large number of German soldiers, and that he is always accompanied by a large number of German soldiers.

Hitler's guards think, with some justification, that the French people will play tricks during blackouts.

LONDON, Dec. 4.—(CP)—The air ministry said today it understood that British raids on communications in the Ruhr Valley had cut off half of Germany's mined coal supply, forcing French factories which the German want to use for the making of war materials to lie idle for lack of fuel.

"Other targets, included a blast furnace plant at Essen and the power station at Düsseldorf, the ministry said. In daylight operations yesterday airmen in northern France were bombed."

The ministry's news service credited the R. A. F. with "heavily" attacking some of Berlin's great railway terminal stations, and destroyed railways and all plants on the Ruhr Rhine.

He also urged the government to adjust his legislation more carefully in the debate that a parliamentary committee be set up to investigate reasons for reductions of effort from the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

Mr. Caldwell said that the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation group in the House would support the New Democracy subcommittee on the Thorne-Sheep resolution, which protected the lack of a fuel policy which would permit an efficient war program without increasing the debt or reducing the standard of living.

This anti-amendment expressed dissatisfaction with the present system and a desire for reform of that system, Mr. Caldwell said. The C.C.F. agreed, although the subcommittee launched the attack from a great position.

PRODUCTION NEED

The C.C.F. recognized the need for a more progressive approach to the question of war production and would support the subcommittee.

He quoted Dorothy Thompson, "The New York Times," as a well-informed critic of the Nazi regime, pointing out that the Germans had not vote themselves 1,000,000,000 money units for defense. They had voted themselves 30,000 planes, etc. The German economy she had said, was an economy of things and men, while the Allied economy was one of money.

The Germans recognized that wealth in capital goods was not produced by money. The Allies had produced money but failed to produce goods. The Germans had no money but produced goods.

The German, Mr. Caldwell said, had recaptured a fundamental economic truth, even though they had confused it for their own diabolical ends.

OUR WAR

Mr. Pouliot said a "small number of cabinet ministers" seemed to think "we were their war" and that they can hold it over us. "We warn the government that the members had their part to play and honor or take the government down with them to realize that fact."

All members wanted to see victory achieved, and to help the government to last just long enough if he doubted if "flattery" was of any assistance.

Mr. Pouliot, after saying that "a small number of cabinet ministers" would "live in the war of the war" members of the house, said:

"It is time they realize that this is our war, the war of all of us. It is our money, the money of all of us. It is our blood, the blood of all of us," he said.

He was not asking for a national strike, he made it clear, but he intended the government should be the members of parliament, in the name of the war, of all of us, the members of policy. The war would have to be a war of the government. It would not be a war of the members shutting their mouths and doing nothing.

"The members must be consulted of their own free will, and they must realize that," he declared.

STAKES 'EXPOSED'

Mr. Pouliot sharply exposed "the government's" "experts." It was deplorable that so much importance was given men who were not in touch with the people. He complained there were many such in the department of finance, men getting $50,000 a year was living on the money of the country to lighten their belts. "Crazy

Different War; Different Methods

Now that elections are nowhere in sight and political thinking at low ebb, there cannot be many Canadians who do not frankly admit it is fortunate Canada did not head into this different kind of a war in the same way it did into the former one. Had we, then, devoted our national energies to raising a great army, we should now be wondering what to do with it. And the British authorities would be wondering too.

Twenty-two ships, with a carrying capacity of 80,000 tons, are being built at the Atlantic last week. That illustrates all too well the truth of the official statement that the enemy is sinking more ships than are being built in British yards. And it hints, all too plainly, the increasing difficulty of getting in Britain the food and other supplies necessary to sustain its population.

If in addition there were two or three times as many Canadian soldiers in overcrowded Britain as are now there, these difficulties would be proportionately increased. At present, London reports, the authorities are having a hectic time to find winter billets for such widely extended numbers would also be complicated if billets had to be found for larger numbers.

This war being different, Canada's effort was directed more to production of arms and building up strong military, naval and air forces at home, than to creating a vast army for immediate service overseas. Time has shown this to have been the wiser course.

Silk Stockings Versus Munitions

At Toronto the head of the union of silk-stocking makers is just plain "mean" at the "bachelors at Ottawa" for threatening to deprive the women of the broad Dominion of this kind of leg-wear. He says, in an "indignant attempt to lower the standard of living of Canadian women," but seems to undermine his own argument by saying they only buy 2 1/2 pairs each in a year anyway.

What really concerns him of course is fear that the silk-stocking makers may find themselves out of joint. But surely in the infinite variety of operations necessary to the fabrication of soldiers' clothing and equipment and munitions of all sorts for land, sea and air, there must be something which these skilled craftsmen can do, probably something they can do better than others. And if they can, they should be organized in a way that would make them more useful to the nation.

For the standard of living, it is surely better that Canadian women have stockings better than those of other nations, than that they have none at all. That, precisely, that is the lot of Hitler's girls. They have no socks to wear. They have no stockings to wear. They have no stockings to wear.

Two-Week Regulation
The new control measures outlined by the Minister of Finance are to be embodied and made legally effective in a War Exchange Control Act. This act explains the purpose. This is to stop the free export of the proceeds of Canada's exports in the United States, which is a serious source of the war effort or to reasonably satisfactory living conditions.

Such action, Mr. Mackenzie King said, is necessary to prevent the possibility of the purchase of munitions and other goods outside Canada had brought a deficit in foreign exchange, meaning that we were importing more than we were exporting. He did not think it advisable to say how large the deficit is.

United steps were taken to restore a balance, one of two things must happen. Canada would have to cut down its purchases of munitions in the United States; or we should have to buy them with dollars we were declining steadily in buying power. We could, the country does not risk either of these alternatives, and the only safe and sane course is to put a stop to the dissipation of foreign exchange through luxury-buying.

As a part of the control program, the Government will take power to punish anyone who attempts to procure or export goods outside Canada had brought a deficit in foreign exchange, meaning that we were importing more than we were exporting. He did not think it advisable to say how large the deficit is.

They Have Their Troubles, Too
Nothing is to be gained by counting too much on the troubles of our enemies, but there is encouragement in knowing that they have some. At several points in the past, Hitler's military machine has broken down.

Herz's conference with Nazi leaders in the occupied countries speaks for itself. From Norway to France, a number of reports have shown that the spirit of subversion is giving way to open popular resistance.

By Harold L. Weir

Conjecture is earnest and widespread about the probable effect of the new tariffs and trade prohibitions proposed by Ottawa and effective as from Tuesday.

On the whole, public opinion has received the new schedule cheerfully and optimistically.

Since this continent is naturally a single trading unit, no one in his senses would like to see a perpetual bar on a free and unobstructed flow of trade between Canada and the United States.

It is understood, of course, that this present arrangement is an emergency war measure and that reciprocal understandings will be resumed when trade conditions return to normal.

And, although some fear has been expressed that the United States might take advantage of the prohibition of trade with Canada, there is no substantial reason for believing that her government and her manufacturers do not understand the situation and will refrain from any retaliatory action.

When it is remembered that fifteen minutes of any American factory work day is sufficient to supply the entire Canadian market with any given product, it becomes apparent that the United States will be in the United States will replace, many times over, the orders that are now being taken away from that country.

On the other hand, every Canadian will applaud and does applaud the abolition of customs duties on many items of British manufacture.

Every dollar spent on British goods is a dollar that goes, directly or indirectly, towards the defence of Britain and therefore the defence of the whole civilized world.

With very few exceptions, British manufacturers are the best in the world. Their products, these products maintain a high quality of material and workmanship.

One of these exceptions is women's stockings. Muddy-colored and uneven in weave, these stockings are usually as execrable as the goods they are supposed to replace.

It would be a poor-spirited Canadian woman, however, who would not wear the goods of her own country. The English silk industry, in preference to the purest silk produced in the world, manufactures Chinese women and children—our dubious little brown stockings of China.

There is still another tendency evoked by the tariff changes that is to be greeted with some enthusiasm. It has been announced by at least one American motor car company that its factory in Canada will be expanded.

It is not unlikely that this step will be expanded into a general trend. The American motor car company that its factory in Canada will be expanded.
